

Terms of Use

This website (“website”) is operated by a leading research-based pharmaceutical company in Canada (the “Company”) and contains information intended only for residents of Canada. Regulatory requirements and medical practices in other countries may differ from those in Canada. Accordingly, this information may not be appropriate for use outside Canada.

Documents and content displayed on this website, and portions thereof, may not be copied, reproduced, published, translated, modified, distributed or otherwise used in any form without the express written consent of the copyright owners, other than for non-commercial individual reference with all copyright or other proprietary notices retained. The Company will use reasonable efforts to include accurate and up-to-date information on this website, but the Company makes no warranties or representations as to its accuracy. All users agree that access to this website and the content thereof is at their own risk.

This website contains information pertaining to a clinical trial for Crohn’s disease. By visiting this website, you agree that all access and use of such general information is not intended as a substitute for any kind of professional medical advice, diagnosis or treatment by a qualified professional. Information contained in this website is not intended to replace advice provided by your healthcare professional. Speak to your healthcare professional before making any changes to your lifestyle and/or any course of treatment. Never disregard professional medical advice or delay in seeking it because of something you have read on this site.

Neither the Company nor any party involved in creating, producing or delivering this website shall be liable for any direct, incidental, consequential, indirect or punitive damages arising out of access to, use of or inability to use this website, or any errors or omissions in the content thereof.

The questions available on this site are suggestions for discussion with your healthcare professional(s) and by no means constitute a full list of topics that you may wish to discuss.
